Mile High Academy Student Tells Tale of Two Cities »

Mile High Academy's British Literature class (and other interested students) went on the trip of a lifetime to London and Paris, leaving April 3. We flew overnight from Denver to Heathrow Airport in London and, after arriving, immediately went sightseeing on a river tour of the Thames and to see the London Eye, an observation wheel much like a Ferris Wheel. We were really tired but excited to be there. We spent most of the next day at Hampton Court, the palace of King Henry VIII and Mary of Orange, but we also squeezed in some time at the British Museum.

Sabbath was a special day, as we visited the famous churches Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral. We also saw Buckingham Palace from the outside.

Sunday we spent at Shakespeare's Globe (a reconstruction of the Globe Theatre) and the acclaimed Tower of London. I was sad to leave London, as there was so much more to see.

Monday, we traveled on Eurostar, the high-speed train that took us under the English Channel from London to Paris.

There, we enjoyed a river cruise on the Seine, and then saw the Eiffel Tower, climbing to the second landing where we saw an amazing view of the city. We stayed four days in Paris, spending time at Versailles and the Hall of Mirrors, where the Treaty of Versailles was signed, which ended World War I; Marie Antoinette's gardens; and the Louvre, including

One of the features of the trip was to visit Notre Dame Cathedral. The group visited this iconic 850-year-old cathedral just one week before the recent devastating fire. I was extremely thankful to see it in its original glory.

Even after getting stuck in Customs in Chicago on the way home and sprinting to the gate while the airline held the plane for us, we got home only five minutes later than scheduled.

Mile High Academy's teacher, Brian Howard, on the trip as a sponsor, sees many benefits to exposing students to travel -- "Experiencing different cultures, getting students outside their comfort zones, seeing new and different ways of thinking about the world, these are the opportunities that truly change our students."

"We will remember and tell, for years to come, a Tale of Two Cities."

Assistant girls' dean Erin Johnson directed the presentation, with many Campion students taking roles as Roman soldiers, angels, and the thieves beside Jesus on the cross. "It was a long and busy day, but it was so worth it," Johnson commented. "I had an amazing cast and crew who gave me goosebumps during each performance."

Junior student, Nathan Bergman played the role of Jesus. "Even though it was just acting, it was still physically difficult staying on the cross, and it gave me a better understanding of what Jesus went through," he reflected. "I can't even imagine what He went through, and acting it out opened my eyes a bit more to what He did for us."

Montrose Church Holds Resurrection Week Service »

For the past seven years during Resurrection Week, the Montrose Church has invited other churches belonging to the Association of Montrose Churches to a breakfast and church service. This year, nearly 40 people attended from area churches, enjoying a delicious breakfast, followed by a service with Carol Ryan on the piano and Roy Ryan presenting the message.

The association gives area pastors opportunity to meet for support, and provides occasions throughout the year to come together as a city-wide faith group. Churches include the Anglican Church, Cedar Creek Church,

Story Guidelines: We want to share your news! » News Nuggets is your publication. We strive to provide news and information expressing our church life. Every church, every family, every individual has a story to tell. We are inviting pastors and secretaries of churches and institutions within the Rocky Mountain Conference to share with us relevant information -- about developments, issues, notable events, as well as experiences of Presbyterian Church and the Church on the Hill. These churches also participated and did similar breakfasts and services throughout Resurrection Week.

"This is a good city-wide tradition that hopefully will continue for many years," said one church member.

Casper Church Sends Resurrection Greetings »

"He is not here, but is risen! Remember how He spoke to you when He was still in Galilee, saying, 'The Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.'" (Luke 24:6-7, NKJV)

Casper Adventist Church had a full church this past Easter Sabbath when visitors and friends gathered to celebrate Jesus' trial, crucifixion and resurrection through the Paschal play, "Love Has Overcome".

Production director, Erin Zavodny, "did a fantastic job coordinating the entire play, including the acting, music, lights, and props," commented one church member..

The play was live-streamed on the Casper Adventist Church Facebook page.

Prayer Conference Challenges Churches » People from 33 churches around our union were challenged to seek God's presence in prayer, rather than seek answers to prayer. Pavel Goia, editor of Ministry Magazine, shared story after story of God's activity, intervention, and miracles in individual lives and churches as people pray. Those attending prayed together in small groups, individually, and corporately, and more than one person said, "This has changed my prayer life!"

church members.

Please email your story to nuggets@rmcsda.org so we can share how God is working through His people in your territory. When submitting your story, please include the following: the Ws (who, what, where, when, why...also how), a personal quote, a photo and the name of the photographer.

Please consider time constraints and always send in fresh new stories instead of outdated ones. Submission deadlines are Wednesdays by noon.

Pavel challenged us to remember that often answers take time, the journey may be difficult, and “You don’t fight the war by fighting the war, you fight the war by calling God’s presence.” Part of the messages focused on growing our churches, and stories of praying big! Pavel also reminded us that when churches have love for one another, they are united in praying for God to grow their church, and the unity comes outside church time as people spend time together.

Goia loves to garden, and while in Kentucky had a huge garden from which they gave away much produce to neighbors, church members and the community. He told the story of inviting his congregation to breakfast at his home at the end of the summer, and then giving each one a poncho, taking them to the garden, and starting a tomato fight with the leftover tomatoes! Says Goia, “Nothing unifies a church like a tomato fight!.” That’s only part of the story!

For more faith building stories, stay tuned – we’re working on a date to bring Pavel to our conference! And who knows – maybe even have a tomato fight?

FROM THE EDITOR

We want to share your news -- Change is a part of the communication age. With online media experiencing constant evolution, the NewsNuggets is also experiencing an increased access from our readers and contributors. We will continue to encourage news sharing from our churches, institutions, and individual church members.

In order to make our eNewsletter accommodate an increased volume of announcements, our editorial work proposes to present information in a more efficient approach, ensuring that all timely promotions and announcements be included in a weekly, Friday release of NewsNuggets. Submission deadline for stories, news, and announcements is at noon on every Wednesday. Please send all your submissions to nuggets@rmcsda.org.

Thank you for your contribution, but also comments, as NewsNuggets continues to serve the church in an efficient and effective way.

NOTE: Questions are being raised regarding guidelines for the Announcement section of the RMC NewsNuggets newsletter. After a review of the guidelines, the following few points should be considered when sending announcements or promotional materials:

- The newsletter has been established primarily for news sharing within the conference, though selected general church news stories are also considered for publication.
- The primary readership of the newsletter are church members within the Rocky Mountain Conference.
- When submitting an announcement, consider that local Sabbath events may be drawing members from other local churches.
- Promoting evangelistic meetings in NewsNuggets is not attracting potential attendees for whom the meetings are primarily advertised.
- Due to space constraints, NewsNuggets will not publish posters and other large photos or images. However, information from the text will be used.
- Announcements will not be repeated more than twice, and they should be concise. Web page links or phone numbers should be provided for additional information.

We are inviting all correspondents and contributors to follow a general Adventist News Network Style Guide, including glossary. For guidelines, see: <http://news.adventist.org/styleguide/>
