Students Share Their Faith Through Summer RMC Literature Ministry »

“This program has taught me so far that the more you give to God, the more you get back,” commented Sophie, Junior at College View Academy, and one of 17 students in the 2019 Rocky Mountain Youth Rush literature ministry program.

According to Matthew Hasty, coordinator of the RMC literature ministry program, known as “All In,” it has already shown during the first week of activities and canvassing from door to door in Denver that students will “see God’s love more fully, and fully accept Him with a desire to be ‘All In,’ not just for the next few weeks, but for the rest of their lives.”

“This is my 18th year being part of a LM team. This one gets me really excited to see how God is going to be working! So, each time you open a door of your home, let it remind you to pray for our kids knocking on them,” Matthew Hasty said.

This year’s program, which started on June 4, includes canvassing activities in the Denver area, as well as a month in Wyoming. In Denver, the students are hosted at the LifeSource Fellowship Church. A four-member leadership team coordinates all activities of students twelve of whom are first-timers, and five joining the program again.

Ashley, a Champion Academy upcoming Senior said, “I love how organized it is, how God-focused, and how everything is

"Mercy and forgiveness must be free and unmerited to the wrongdoer. If the wrongdoer has to do something to merit it, then it isn't mercy, but forgiveness always comes at a cost to the one granting the forgiveness."

planned out.”

One of the significant outcomes of the program is having stories of meeting different people and learning how to engage with their lives. The students and leaders (pictured) shared these stories with participants of the Northeastern Camp Meeting at Campion Academy on Sabbath, June 8.

Adrianna, a student at Campion Academy, shared meeting a man who gave her $100 “to give Christian books to someone who couldn’t afford it.” She continued, saying, “a few minutes later I met a lady [who said she] was an atheist, because something ‘bad’ happened to her. The ironic thing is that I was an atheist eight months ago, too. I started sharing my testimony and gave her a Great Controversy, because she couldn’t afford it. It’s amazing that God gave me more than enough money to give this girl a book that she couldn’t afford!”

Adam Cornett from Wyoming remembers his first day. “On my first day out, I found out quickly that it’s not easy going door to door. After a few hours of not getting anything out, we stopped and prayed. Ten minutes later, I met a guy who takes books to a pastor for an Indian Reservation. He decided to get four of each of our books, totaling $450!” he shared.

It taught me to not give up when things are hard and keep working because you never know who you’ll meet next,” Adam added.

The current LM summer program will continue through August 6.

challenges including low social economic status and immigration status. These two issues could lead to increased anxiety and depression. The training provided attendees with resources to help support our Latino communities," Rivera commented.

Pastor Rivera added that, "the information I learned will help me orient the Hispanic pastoral team so that we can train our leaders to refer to professional mental health agencies when needed."

About 30 people attended the certification including nurses, social workers, teachers, counselors and parents interested in learning more about mental health. The certification was held in Commerce City and was hosted by Community Reach Center on April 26. The sessions were held in Spanish so that the Latino community in the Denver Metro area was able to participate.

Adventist Air Force Captain Promoted to Major at USAF Academy in Colorado Springs »

Chaplain, Captain Lane F. Campbell was promoted to Major in a special ceremony at the USAF Academy in Colorado Springs on May 29. Following 17 plus years of civilian ministry, Chaplain Campbell received a direct commission December 10, 2008. He is ordained and endorsed by the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The former director of chaplaincy ministry, Dick Stenbakken, delivered the homily during this promotion ceremony and the Rocky Mountain Conference was also represented by Mickey Mallory, RMC ministerial director, who attended the program.

"To achieve the status which Chaplain Campbell has obtained takes dedication and hard work," said Mallory. "These are virtues we, as a church, promote to all our members. Our church can be proud to have a chaplain representative at USAF Academy."

Central Honors 2019 Graduates » Colorado Springs Central Church honored its 2019 graduates on Sabbath, June 8, with gifts and a luncheon at the church. Those honored included graduates from Colorado Springs middle schools, high schools, colleges and universities, both local and out of state. Five kindergarteners from Springs Adventist Academy (SAA) were promoted to first grade and two SAA eighth-grader moved on to high school. All eighteen of these students were applauded for their accomplishments.

Along with those who graduated from educational institutions, the church also issued a Certificate of Completion to 22 adults who have completed Central's Bible Institute courses--11 beginners and 11 more who completed both beginners and advanced (prophecy) classes.

Marcia Armstead, who facilitated the classroom sessions stated, "All who attended these evening classes through the fall and winter have been motivated and encouraged to teach and share their knowledge with other individuals and small groups." Daniela Dumitru, who conducts one-on-one studies, and Marlane Smutka, who facilitates Bible studies by mail, both have expressed great motivation among their students to serve and obey God.

"This is an exciting time in earth's history and all need to be equipped with the Word," said Central's Pastor Mike Maldonado, referring to the possibility of expansion for Central's Bible Institute.

Summer Camp at MHA » School may be out, but summer at Mile High Academy is still an active and exciting time. With Kids University Summer Camp in full swing, our days are full.

Starting as early as 7:30 in the morning, you will see staff on campus greeting our campers. The 8:30 a.m. worship on the upper school deck begins the day right. By 9 a.m., our campers are off and running. Every week, a special activity in the morning keeps our campers engaged in movement and play.

The afternoon is dedicated to hands-on learning that incorporates STEM, literacy, and outdoor activities that are developmentally appropriate for each camper.

The classrooms may be closed, teachers may be off learning and taking much-needed self-care breaks, but here in the MHA upper school building, the energy is high through the summer weeks.

We want to share your news -- Change is a part of the communication age. With online media experiencing constant evolution, the NewsNuggets is also experiencing an increased access from our readers and contributors. We will continue to encourage news sharing from our churches, institutions, and individual church members.

In order to make our eNewsletter accommodate an increased volume of announcements, our editorial work proposes to present information in a more efficient approach, ensuring that all timely promotions and announcements be included in a weekly, Friday release of NewsNuggets. Submission deadline for stories, news, and announcements is at noon on every Wednesday. Please send all your submissions to nuggets@rmcsda.org.

Thank you for your contribution, but also comments, as NewsNuggets continues to serve the church in an efficient and effective way.

NOTE: Questions are being raised regarding guidelines for the Announcement section of the RMC NewsNuggets newsletter. After a review of the guidelines, the following few points should be considered when sending announcements or promotional materials:

- The newsletter has been established primarily for news sharing within the conference, though selected general church news stories are also considered for publication.
- The primary readership of the newsletter are church members within the Rocky Mountain Conference.
- When submitting an announcement, consider that local Sabbath events may be drawing members from other local churches.
- Promoting evangelistic meetings in NewsNuggets is not attracting potential attendees for whom the meetings are primarily advertised.
- Due to space constraints, NewsNuggets will not publish posters and other large photos or images. However, information from the text will be used.
- Announcements will not be repeated more than twice, and they should be concise. Web page links or phone numbers should be provided for additional information.

We are inviting all correspondents and contributors to follow a general Adventist News Network Style Guide, including glossary. For guidelines,
