Students From Front-Range Adventist Schools Run the Town »

Every child has wanted to be in charge and that happened for some RMC elementary students on February 29. Seventy-one students in Grades 3-6 were part of AmeriTowne, a program designed to give students practical financial and business skills.

"AmeriTowne provides real-life learning for students. In addition to experiencing free enterprise, budgeting and accounting principles, students must work together to make their businesses successful. It is also a great opportunity for our sister schools to collaborate on a project that introduces students to the world of economics," explains Sandy Hodgson, principal and teacher at Vista Ridge Academy in Erie.

Students spend the day in a mini-sized town, complete with mayor, laws, and bank. Kids are the city officials, accountants, and various employees of 16 businesses, and they receive paychecks and the opportunity to purchase items. Our RMC students learned to write checks, to track their spending, and about legal fees and medical copays, teaching one student, Diego, that "money runs out fast." While another student, Sierra, enjoyed living like a grownup, she leaned "not to spend all my money in the first break."

"It was great to have Brighton Adventist Academy, HMS Richards Elementary, Mile High Academy and Vista Ridge Academy come together and have a day of fun and new friends . . . the best way to learn," commented Kelly Waller, RMC education assistant, who joined the learning experience of young students in the Denver center of AmeriTowne.

The day was not simply about the financial aspect of adulthood. Braden was quick to say, "It's tough to pay attention to everyone at one time," and Brie discovered, "It's hard to get everything done!"

It's impossible to discount the learning provided through this program. "My students decided that being an adult is hard work," shared Heather Blaire, teacher at Brighton Adventist Academy. "However, they loved the experience!" [Text and photos by Kelly Waller]

Campion Academy's Week of Prayer Completes a 40-Day Prayer Challenge » Members of the Rocky Mountain Conference staff hosted a week of prayer at Campion Academy to mark the final days of Campion Academy's campus-wide 40-day prayer challenge.

Speakers Eric Nelson, VP for administration; Craig Carr, ministerial director; Anthony Handal and Heidi Littell, both assistant youth directors, shared personal stories explaining how prayer has played an important part in each of their lives and what God has done for them.

After week of prayer . . . I started to pray more than before," said sophomore David Marroquin, a village student.

"I learned that God always hears us, even if our prayers aren't answered in the way we think they should be," shared Rayna Williams. "I learned to pray boldly," she adds.

Led by Pastor Michael Goetz, Campion Church pastor, Pastor Nick Clark, campus chaplain, and Pastor Nestor Soriano, associate pastor for Campion Church, the students shared how God worked in their lives during the week of prayer, from physical and spiritual healing to new friendships and divine appointments. These testimonies were followed by foot washing and communion.

Story Guidelines: We want to share your news! » News Nuggets is your publication. We strive to provide news and information that expresses our church life. Every church, every family, every individual has a story to tell. We are inviting pastors and secretaries of churches and institutions within the Rocky Mountain Conference to share with us relevant information -- about developments, issues, notable events, as well as members chose time slots to spend in a prayer room in the administration building where they collectively prayed for 24 hours.

At the closing of the Sabbath hours, students were able to view War Room, a compelling video on what prayer can do. "War Room opened my eyes to how powerful prayer is and influenced me to commit to more prayer in my daily life," stated senior Wes Carle. Church Membership Growth and Positive Financial Report Noted by RMC Executive Committee »

Members of the Rocky Mountain Conference Executive Committee heard with interest the end-of-year results of church growth and stewardship in 2015 during their quarterly meeting, March 1.

"Baptisms in 2015 and an increase in the overall membership are not only worth noting, but with it, we wish to express our gratitude for God's leading and exemplary ministry of our laity and ministers," said Ed Barnett, RMC president.

His comments were echoed by George Crumley, VP for finance, whose report presented a tithe gain of 3.55 percent in 2015. He noted the 2014 annual report showed a tithe gain of 4.39 percent. Crumley reported that the Mid-America Union Conference returned an appropriation of $127,809 to RMC for evangelism and that "our conference experienced a strong, unaudited gain by the end of 2015 amounting to $805,000."

The committee approved distribution of the 2015 gain which will support the following funds: evangelism, rural Bible worker subsidy, church planting reserves, student literature evangelism, an allocation to Campion Academy, and medical reserve. "Due to the Lord's blessing, we can fund additional ministry opportunities," Crumley stated.

Commenting on the criteria for gain distribution, Ed Barnett said that conference leadership "recognized primacy of mission. It happens through our witness locally and through our institutions. New methods and creative approaches for community outreach are being encouraged. We believe that this financial gain gives us encouragement to further increase our ministry and evangelistic efforts."

The committee also received an RMC Finance Committee report which included a balanced budget for 2016 and reported that the ABC ended the year with a gain of $7,772.

In additional agenda items, the committee was introduced to several new staff members who are filling vacant positions in the RMC office. These include: MaryLynn Green, executive assistant for Property and Trust; Julio Arias, field representative for Trust, Chanelle Watson, administrative assistant for administration; and Brittany Bartter, treasurer for experiences of church members.

Please email your story to nuggets@rmcsda.org so we can share how God is working through His people in your territory. When submitting your story, please include the following: the Ws (who, what, where, when, why..also how), a personal quote, a photo and the name of the photographer.

Please consider time constraints and always send in fresh new stories instead of outdated ones. Submission deadlines are Wednesdays by noon.

Volunteers of America/Pathfinder Sabbath » Golden Pathfinders, in collaboration with the Volunteers of America (VOA) celebrated Pathfinder Sabbath by serving the homeless on March 27.

The VOA mission, located in Denver's downtown district, feeds the homeless every day and church services are held on weekends. It was here that Golden's Pathfinder Club presented a worship service for the homeless that gathered.

Curious faces watched as the Pathfinder color guard marched forward carrying their flags to the Pathfinder theme song.

The program that followed featured a mission story and Pathfinder staff sharing testimonies to lots of "Amens" and "Uhums". In a skit performed by two Pathfinders, Alexander Rodriguez and Daniel Padilla, Jesus was sculpting a masterpiece -- a human being. The skit was intended to show the relationship between Creator and created and how our Creator wants to fashion us for His glory, yet how often we fight His wisdom.

More than two hundred meals were served that Sabbath and many conversations were shared regarding the Adventist faith.

Pathfinders spent their afternoon going door-to-door distributing Steps to Christ and praying for those who were open to it. [Golden Pathfinder Club]

Campion Prepares to Host Annual Music Fest »

Jacque's Story: From Fear to Confidence »

The Eden Valley Seventh-day Adventist congregation were blessed with the baptism of Jacque Dooley on Sabbath, February 13, She was baptized by Pastor Daniel Birai and welcomed into fellowship by the church members She shares her inspiring story:

Growing up, I went to church every Sunday, but fear was the underlying feeling I had about God as a child.

There were special moments when I felt close to God -- sometimes during prayer or when seeing Jesus' loving face in a picture. Yet I was getting mixed messages from school and church and I had many unanswered questions.

In high school, my doubts about religion started to nag at me and by the time I went off to college, I gave up going to church altogether, deciding to party instead. The expression "looking for love in all the wrong places" was a good description of me.

My first marriage introduced me to an Eastern religion and philosophy that I embraced wholeheartedly. "This is it!" I thought. "I've found what I've been searching for." The marriage and the religion lasted about two years.

When I got a cold in my forties, I didn't go to the doctor until it developed into a severe cough and eventually turned into laryngitis, a condition that never went away and which eventually caused the vocal cords to function erratically.

This diagnosis triggered a powerful change of direction in my life because I could no longer count on my voice. I had to be retrained in a new job and I chose massage therapy. I learned about natural therapies and helping others. Although I didn't know it, God was answering my prayers.

When I received a cancer diagnosis in 2014, my first instinct was to use natural therapies, but I also tried chemotherapy. After a bad reaction to the chemo, however, I discovered the lifestyle program at Eden Valley and decided to attend their 18-day program. I wasn't looking for anything religious. I was just there to get well.

And I did. My next CT scan showed no tumor growth and no spreading of the cancer. Most importantly, I found a way to fill that empty hole inside me. And I found the book that had the answers I'd been seeking -- the Bible!

I have such gratitude for the amazing grace God has shown me. No matter what God's will is for my future, He has given me the tools to handle it. [Jacque Dooley; photo by Beverly Christensen]
